Longren To Build On Airport Site

Plans for a new 52,000 sq. ft. ultra-modern office and manufacturing plant with ample parking facilities adjacent to the new Nike site are near completion, Longren aircraft officials announced this week.

Among benefits derived by the city from these operations is a greater revenue, it was pointed out.

As soon as the building department approves the final drawings, construction of the building will begin. Longren officials hoped that ground may be broken this month.

The new plant will be so constructed that further expansion to double its size can be accomplished without interrupting work schedules.

Longren specializes in difficult parts and assemblies for the aircraft industry. Most of Longren's equipment for forming these difficult parts are designed and built by Longren itself.

This accounts for much of the company's rapid growth. Officials stated that the present plant on Carson street will re-

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Warren Hanna, 11453 W. 214th St., announce the birth of a son, Mark Sterling, weighing 8 pounds and 9 ounces.

it was questionable if Longren would build on the Torrance airport because of the amount of land the government would require for its operation.

However, Longren was requested to release only about two acres from the original ten-acre lease. The property lines have now been determined to the satisfaction of the Federal Government and Longren officials, it was pointed out. Operations will go ahead as originally planned.
